FLOOR DEBATE

January 14, 2004 LB 227

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Okay. And what specifically I'm asking about is, there is, under (2), subsection (b), there is an exception for a vehicle being operated in a parade, caravan, or exhibition officially authorized or permitted by law. And so there is that specific exception in this bill. I guess my question to you is, is that, what...I guess, what constitutes a parade? Not to be facetious, but, I mean, do you have to be waving American flags? What constitutes...

SENATOR AGUILAR: I think...I think...

SENATOR QUANDAHL: ...a parade? I mean, quite frankly, I mean, a couple kids on a trike going down the sidewalk sometimes constitutes a parade in my neighborhood. And...

SENATOR AGUILAR: That's a very good point, Senator, thank you.

SENATOR QUANDAHL: And so if you could help me out with that, then I'll follow up...

SENATOR AGUILAR: Okay.

SENATOR QUANDAHL: ...perhaps with some...

SENATOR AGUILAR: Okay. What my answer to that would be was, like, in any situation where you're going to have a parade within a city, you have to apply for a permit for that parade. In my estimation, that would make it a legal parade, and that would have to be the parameters that would take place before that exemption would take place.

SENATOR QUANDAHL: Okay. And thank you very much, because that was going to be a follow-up question that I had. It said "officially authorized," and I think that goes to "parade, caravan, or exhibition." And so your definition of "officially authorized" would mean that a permit would have to be issued by the governing body, be it the city or the county...

SENATOR AGUILAR: Yes, absolutely. Or, like you said, you would have two kids on a trike saying, we're in a parade, you know.
