FLOOR DEBATE

January 27, 2004 LB 762

in support of the bracket motion. This law is, to some extent, flawed. I think we've had a good discussion on that. Senator Brashear has often...uses the term that, you know, perfect is the enemy of good. And if we're going to have a...have to have a perfect law on the books to retain it, I don't think that we can retain this bill. But if you're looking at the balance, whether this does more good than damage, I think that the bill does. I think that campaigns are less expensive than they used to be, or would be without this legislation in place. And that is a good. If you look at the message that we send to the public by eliminating campaign finance law instead of maybe fixing it, I think that that would not serve us well, or serve the public confidence well, as we approach campaigns. As someone who's gone through campaigns, is going through a campaign now, I think that we need to keep the public's wishes in place. And I think that the public would like disclosure, like limits, would like to make sure that campaigns don't get out of hand. With that in mind, I think that if we ought to fix the campaign finance law, I'm willing to do that. But I'm not willing to repeal it outright and just let, Katy bar the door, campaigns be as expensive as they would be without a limit in place. With that, I oppose the bracket...I mean, I oppose the bill and favor the bracket motion.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Connealy. Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, Mr. President. Members of the Legislature, I support the bracket motion. I am strongly opposed to Senator Brashear's bill. Before I launch into a tirade, or a screech, I would like to ask the "Silver Fox" a question, if he would answer.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Brashear, would you respond?

SENATOR BRASHEAR: Yes, Mr. President.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Brashear, you had mentioned during your presentation that two brave candidates for, I think, the Board of Regents--if I have the office wrong, you can correct me. Who were these two brave candidates?
