February 26, 2004

about 10 or 12 that I've pushed the green light on. I have never pushed a red light on any confirmation. The process is the key. How many of these should be...should or can we be reconsidering? I have no idea. Let's do this, but the folks that have spoken already are correct. The senators who have spoken already are correct. My question is, how do we solve or how do we get this procedure fixed? I have no clue. Mr. President, thank you for the time.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Friend. Senator Chambers, there are no further lights on. You're recognized to close on your motion to reconsider.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I think the discussion has been valuable and it does...if it does nothing else, it shows the seriousness of what is involved when the Legislature votes to confirm an appointee. Most of the time they will be, the appointees that is, it will just be a rubber stamp, and the rubber stamp will not result in anything harmful. Sometimes it takes a misstep to cause us to review what it is we're doing. But I want to make it clear, as the offerer of this motion, what it is that I'm doing. First of all, the motion has to be properly drafted to reconsider the report found on a certain page of the Journal that was approved of by the Legislature, and there were two names on that report. So the motion has been properly drafted. When a vote to reconsider is taken, it is nothing other than saying that we want to put the Legislature in the same position it would have been had no vote been taken. It gives the opportunity to gather whatever information we, individually or collectively, feel that we need in order to make a proper, prudent judgment on this confirmation. This vote is not an allegation of wrongdoing. It is not a charge against the person. It is not a slam at Senator Schrock. I'm mentioning what my position is on this. But from the standpoint of the Legislature as an institution, the fact that I am the oldest person here, somebody should be the point person in seeing after the integrity of the Legislature as an institution and its processes. So, if we take this vote, all we do is put ourselves, as a Legislature, in a position to get all of the information needed to make a prudent judgment as to how this matter should be resolved. If there are other legal
