FLOOR DEBATE

March 2, 2004

LB 998

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...confidence in their own ability, will not recognize their own power, and will let their enemies tell them that they should not do the very thing that will defeat their enemy. As a result, there will be some strong women who will step out, but in many cases, other women will attack that one, because they are still the tools of males who are not interested in the uplift or the fair treatment of women. Thank you, Mr. President.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Schimek, on the Chambers amendment, FA1495.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Yes, thank you, Mr. President and members. Senator Chambers, I didn't turn my light on in response to the comments that you had just been making. I actually turned my light on to give you some time, so that's what I would like to do, Mr. President. But thank you for your comments.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Chambers, about four and a half minutes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you, Senator Schimek. Thank you, Mr. President. And these unexpected bonuses that are offered by my female colleagues are deeply appreciated. And I have to say that I'm more accustomed to people throwing stones at me than occasionally offering me a flower, that I have to sometimes take a second or two to get my feet back under me. But what I want to do is continue discussing these things as I am. And here's what I hope will happen; that I will have the opportunity, in one way or another, today to take all of the time that we're going to be here, even if it's until midnight, because I have stated on various occasions that I will not run down. One thing I've never been able to determine, even when I watch the commercials, that little bunny rabbit that continues running when everything else is through, I don't even know what brand of battery that is. So for people such as myself, they ought to keep putting the brand name of the battery, unless the name of the battery is bunny rabbit, except I haven't seen that in the store. But here's what I have to tell people. When bunny rabbit runs down, I will continue to move forward, because I believe in what it is that I'm doing. I believe in the
