

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office
FLOOR DEBATE

March 4, 2004

item "off the table" helps. Gratefully yours, Ernie Chambers, State Senator. If somebody tells me that he was invited by some fanatical zealots in Congress who put up the money for him to traipse off to Washington, D.C., then I would suggest that he prevail on Congress to give him money for his office, if he needs it. If I am told that this witless, bigoted organization that this Maggie Gallagher represents put up the money, then I will say it showed the kind of man that he is to accept money from such a bigoted group. When the people of this state were presented with a proposed constitutional amendment to ban what they call same-sex marriage and civil unions, that woman, who is very unattractive as she described herself, who led the effort, then hightailed it to Virginia after she did her dirt in this state and made it look like the wrong end of a jackass, said that the reason they wanted to amend the constitution is because Senator Ernie Chambers would never allow them to get such a proposal through the Legislature, and she was right. I will stand against freezing into the law discrimination against any group of people. The Attorney General, by doing what he has done, has shown that he does not think very well. He is posturing. He is trying to position himself, I'm sure, to run for Governor. And by so doing he has indicated how loosey-goosey he is, and that his youthfulness is a hindrance and a drawback. Nebraska is always put in a position by its Attorney General of being the backward-looking, backward-moving wasteland...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...when it comes to culture, understanding, or civilization. While talking about being conservative and not in favor of governmental intrusion, they are the most busybody, meddlesome people on the face of the earth. Luddites, flat-earthers look like those in the vanguard of civilization when compared to Nebraskans. He represents the people of this state. The rest of the country is entitled to believe that his lame...his lamebrain "simpletonness" is what the state of Nebraska and its people are about, so I always distance myself from it. I take offense at what he did. He is politicizing that office. He is injecting politics, and I am a politician and I'm going to address those things when they come up.
