FLOOR DEBATE

March 17, 2004 LB 1083

I'm sure they could. If we recognize as a state that they're doing it and doing it well, we can then allocate the dollars to them, assuming that our system goes in that direction, where we find those other savings throughout the state, instead of putting individuals in a regional center.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time.

SENATOR ERDMAN: Thank you, Mr. President.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Erdman. Senator Schimek, followed by Senator Landis.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Yes. Thank you. Mr. President and members, I can't believe either that I turned my light on as I was speaking last time, and now, an hour and a half later, here we are again. I would like to follow up on Senator Erdman's comments. And Senator Erdman, I want to make sure that I understood you, because I was interrupted a couple of times while you were speaking. But are you saying that in your part of the state now you have more and more services in place to take care of people who are in a position where they need to be locked down, or kept, I should say, in a secure facility, but that you're always going to have some that are going to need to be transported east? I may be totally...I may not have understood you at all. Could you comment on that?

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Erdman, would you respond?

SENATOR ERDMAN: Senator Schimek, there are very few individuals that require those types of services. There are existing facilities. I know within the hospital in Scottsbluff there are lockdown facilities within that unit, that they could deal with some of these things as far as secure entry and taking care of some of those individuals. There will probably always be some groups of people that will not fit into the services available, and I think that's going to be the case no matter what we do statewide, requiring an additional facility or something...

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Like a Lincoln Regional Center, you're talking?
