March 18, 2004 LB 46, 1089

And I would like to remind you that, in fact, there were two legislative resolutions. Now let me tell you before he feels compelled to tell you, Senator Dwite Pedersen didn't like the way we handled those resolutions. He didn't like the way...what we did or didn't do with regard to those resolutions, how we conducted the hearing or the conclusions we came to. But you know, that happens to all of us. Sometimes you win, sometimes you lose, and on this one the overwhelming majority of the Judiciary Committee was supportive of how we studied it, when we studied it, what we heard, what we concluded, and what we wrote, and what we sent to you. And I'm reminding you that you have an interim study report with regard to those issues, so I'm not going to get into all the specifics. Each of you was provided a copy. It's 13-page report. I think it's fairly succinctly written. It sets forth the reasoning of the committee. It is footnoted. It has exhibits appended to it, and it sets forth a multiplicity of reasons, more than you would want to listen to now, as to why in moving forward with community corrections and the philosophy which you adopted, 47 to nothing, that was signed by the Governor in LB 46, it was not the time with regard to community corrections and with regard to reforms that were going on with regard to the operation of the Board of Parole, which Senator Dwite Pedersen talked to you about yesterday in glowing terms as it related to the appointment of the new chair of the Board of Parole. It was in trying to handle all of that in a global and universal sense that your Judiciary Committee concluded that, no, we ought not close the Lincoln Correctional Center, and the reasons are set forth in the interim study report. So with that, I understand there...that Senator Dwite Pedersen has issues. He and I have discussed these many times. I've often said much of what I know about corrections I learned from him. He has been a very helpful colleague, but we haven't gotten to the point where we agree on every single thing. I'm not going to sit here and dissect it point by point, but I would urge you to refer to the interim study report of the Judiciary Committee with regard to the issue. And if you have any questions, of course I'd be happy to talk with you. Thank you very much for your time and attention.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Brashear. (Visitors introduced.) On with discussion of the Chambers amendment,
