FLOOR DEBATE

March 24, 2004 LR 209

no; there's no either, there's no in-between. We have to have some money in this case. So I think it's a serious mistake for us to lock this into the constitution. The statute does give some protection. And even then, we have been, I think, somewhat pretty diligent in doing the monies that we have taken from those, tried to at least have appropriate purposes for that money that was raised for that purpose. So I think we need to very, very seriously consider what this long-range impact would be for the next fiscal crisis, if nothing else, because there will be another fiscal crisis sometime in the future, perhaps not among those of us in this body, but somewhere down the line. And to lock away this immediate response, it...that's the other thing, it's something that you can get at immediately if you have to. It's a fairly quick response to almost an emergency situation, if you will, much as many of the other things that we're doing in this next year's budget, is because we have some flexibility, can work our way through, not decimate state government in some areas, not have to raise taxes, but we have the flexibility in these various funds to do that, and this is one of those. So I'd urge your strong reflection on this proposal. Thank you.

SPEAKER BROMM: Thank you, Senator Wehrbein. Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I don't know what has gotten into Senator Landis between General File and here, but he's offering now a "trust me" amendment. I'd like to ask Senator Landis a question.

SPEAKER BROMM: Senator Landis, would you yield, please?

SENATOR LANDIS: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator Landis, the Environmental Trust Fund is created by statute. Is that true?

SENATOR LANDIS: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: The Legislature...

SENATOR LANDIS: And by the way, you know that to be true, don't
