FLOOR DEBATE

March 31, 2004      LB 1090

Brashear's idea, I don't want to pay interest unless we absolutely have to, unless we absolutely have to. I bought a car here a while back, three or four years ago, and I saved up enough money, fortunately, to buy it and to pay for it. Well, the interest rate then was 1.5 percent interest, and the car dealer says, why do you want to pay for this? Borrow the money. Pay a percent and a half. Invest your money wisely and make the extra 6, 7 percent and put in your pocket. I did this. I invested the money in some stock. Guess what? It dropped in half. I paid for the car three times over. So that's what could happen to us. That's a true story, a true story. So be careful, be real careful when you're doing this. It's the public's money. I mean, I'm not...it's kind of a joke. The joke was on me. But anyway, that's just the way it goes. You've got to watch that low interest rate.

SENATOR KREMER: One minute.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time goes swiftly when you're having fun, I guess. But the bottom line is, the bottom line is listen to your people. The people are going to wind up paying for this. Right now, I'm kind of favoring the income tax. A lot of people wish probably that they had some money to pay income on. Right? If you make it, you pay it. Right now, maybe I'm favoring that, until some genius comes up with a new way to generate dollars. But for now, it seems like we're stuck with the same old three ways, sales tax, income tax, fees. Probably income tax is probably going to win out in the long run, maybe not, but let's don't get in a big hurry. Let's don't get in a big hurry. We have plenty of time here. We have plenty of time. Let's just kind of do this...this one, let's do this one right. We all...I guess we normally do. Thank you for your time.

SENATOR KREMER: Thank you, Senator Cudaback. The lights that are now on are Senator Kruse, Wehrbein, Stuthman, McDonald and seven others. Senator Kruse, you're recognized to speak.

SENATOR KRUSE: Thank you, Senator Kremer and colleagues. I would propose a new change of rules for us the next time we meet, and that is that none of us have to follow Senator Cudaback when he speaks. (Laugh) I'm kidding, of course. This
