FLOOR DEBATE

April 5, 2004

LB 391

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you, Senator Tyson. Senator Erdman, I'm sorry, but you have spoken three times. All you have left is your closing. Senator Smith. I could not...did not hear you, Senator? Senator Tyson, I apologize for that. Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: How much time now do I...

SENATOR CUDABACK: I apologize.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...have, Mr. President?

SENATOR CUDABACK: You have about 2, 40.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Thank you. Members of the Legislature, true to his promise, Senator Brashear, on...I don't know whether you'd call this purple, lavender, or what, or violet. When I was growing up, there were eight crayons in a box. But now I can't even count the number of crayons, let alone give you the different shades, tints, and gradations of colors. But at any rate, there are decisions that were taken by Senator Brashear as to which types of things ought to be included in the committee amendment, and which ought not. As I review, just having gotten it right here, some of the things that are in this list that were not included, there are similar things, in my mind, that are included. So we can differ. Maybe what should have been done was to put every section of statute dealing with every subject that relates to the age of majority. Then we would truly see the dimensions of what it is that we're dealing with. But since those provisions have not been put into the statute, I do want to say that Senator Tyson and I are not members of a mutual admiration society, but I give him credit for just going ahead and voting no when the bill was to be advanced from committee. I was not sure of just what the committee amendment consisted of, so I abstained. I had considered that it might be one of those set of circumstances where a particular...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...section might touch on a subject, and there would be agreement that it was all right to reduce the age
