April 7, 2004 LB 1090

country and get breaks, so they cannot sympathize with people who have to work. They've got hands softer than that princess who had all those mattresses stacked up but got bruises because a little pea was put under the very bottom...

SPEAKER BROMM: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and she was so delicate that that pea, which was separated from her with all these mattresses, nevertheless bruised her delicate hide. We've got people on this floor with hands softer and more delicate than that. So what do they care about constitutions because they are privileged and they're never going to have to confront any problems. But for those who have children in schools that don't measure up, they do have a problem. I'm shocked at Senator Maxwell, who has spent so much time this session and last, talking about the way money is not properly spent on education, and he voted to take 10 percent of the lottery proceeds so that there would be less money available for educational purposes. And he's free to do that. Everybody is free to do what they wanted to do, but I'm free to do what I'm doing and I shall continue, not for the whole morning,...

SPEAKER BROMM: Time.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...but until I'm told that my time is up.

SPEAKER BROMM: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Friend.

SENATOR FRIEND: Thank you, Mr. Speaker. Members of the Legislature, I'm sure everybody is waiting with bated breath to find out what Mike Friend does for a living. Well, maybe I'll just keep you guessing. Actually, I just write and I edit and I go to work every day and I try to do a job just like you all do. Really what's happening here is, again, what we've all come to know and love. I can look in the mirror in the morning, I don't know about the rest of you, I can look at my wife, she usually doesn't wake up, give her that quick kiss, go look at my kids, leave the house, and understand that I'm...that I'm doing what I feel is right. I know that everybody else in here does, too. Here's what's happening here, and he's perfect at it, absolutely
