

TRANSCRIPT PREPARED BY THE CLERK OF THE LEGISLATURE
Transcriber's Office
FLOOR DEBATE

April 8, 2004

LB 958

resides. If the human being, as they'd call it, resides in the uterus, it is a human being worthy of protection. If it is a human being who happens to reside outside the uterus, it is entitled to no protection, and their principles will allow them to make that compromise. And yet, they want to stand on this floor and speak so passionately about protecting all unborn human life. They should say all unborn human life except, and then at least have their professed belief accord with their conduct. Don't set up a standard by which you can be judged, then fall beneath that standard and expect not to be judged. Senator Foley, on Judgment Day, will be told he's got to go to hell. Senator Maxwell will be told, you hitch onto his coattails because that's where you're going, too. You had the opportunity to do the right thing and you chose not to. Why did you choose not to do it? Because you feared what political results might not be obtained. If you acted on your belief nobody would kill you, as your church killed other people because of their belief. The only thing that would happen to you is you may not get enough votes. But you turned your back on what, by your own mouth and your own words, should be the standard guiding your conduct, and you intentionally, knowingly, and cravenly made the decision not to pursue the protection of these innocent human beings, and for that you got to go to hell, so get to stepping, buddy, and enjoy it. One thing we can assure you, there will not be many temperature fluctuations, but if they are, they will be of such little consequence that it won't make you any difference. And you might can practice up. If you've got an electric stove, go to your kitchen and turn that knob on high, and when those circular rings are glowing red, you just take your right hand and place it on there and lean all of your weight on it and stay there, not just till you feel pain, not just till the flesh is charred, not just till the bone starts to be charred, but until everything below your wrist no longer is attached to your wrist and that will give you an inkling of what you're facing. They don't believe that, and they don't believe what they're telling us about this attempt to protect all unborn human life. Nobody on this floor believes that. You know I don't believe it. There is no human being that exists prior to birth, and my colleagues of the Catholic persuasion don't believe in protecting or even trying to protect all human beings as they and their religion define them. Am I