FLOOR DEBATE

April 8, 2004 LB 958

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...when that person no longer lives;...

SENATOR FRIEND: There you go...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...birth.

SENATOR FRIEND: ...and guess what? And guess what? Thirty years ago "born" was a heck of a lot different, I believe, than "born" is today. Viability has...medical technology has moved in a direction where viability is totally different than it was 35 years ago.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: See, you changed.

SENATOR FRIEND: Would you agree with that statement?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: You changed again.

SENATOR FRIEND: No.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: You talked about born.

SENATOR FRIEND: No, I didn't.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: First of all,...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...born...

SENATOR CUDABACK: ...one minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...has always meant the same thing. Now you've switched from "born" to "viability," and most people, by viability, means that a fetus could exist outside the womb on its own.

SENATOR FRIEND: Let's...I understand what you're saying. We got...how much time do we have?
