person gets no copies. That is not the person the realtors are concerned about, because it's their word against that person. And as I always say, when the cockroach goes to court against the rooster, and the judges are roosters, the cockroach never wins. Well when we come to this new language that relates to what these realtors are concerned about, the testers, the ones who can nail them, that is where you come to the requirement that copies of all information derived from an investigation and copies of any final investigative report relating to the investigation may be demanded, and it will have to be given these copies. They're not required to be given now. When you have not just copies of any final investigative report, but copies of all information derived from an investigation, all information derived from an investigation, you are giving much more to these malefactors than exists under the law right now. You're giving more to them than is available to a person who files a complaint but is not a tester or a member of a testing organization. Why are these testing organizations so feared? I will say it again: There are ads put in newspapers, they're put on the Internet, listing apartments for rent, houses for rent or for sale. When minority group members go to rent the apartment, to rent or purchase the house, they are told that the apartment is rented, they are told that the house has been rented or sold. A white person from the organization comes to the same apartment right after the black person or other minority group member has been turned down, and the apartment is for rent. You all don't care about that, because it doesn't happen to you. And when I talk about the racism in this Legislature, you want to say that I'm painting with too broad a brush. You all are the ones who help maintain the discrimination. You all pass these laws that entrench the discrimination, that take the heart out of those efforts that can fight discrimination. So when I say I'm surrounded by a bunch of racists, why do you all get offended and upset? We come to a concrete set of circumstances. Now if Senator Brown can stand up and say with a straight face that what I'm saying is untrue, I will not utter another word on this bill and I'll let her get her vote. All she has to do is tell me that there are not situations where apartments are listed as being for rent, when a minority person comes... minority group member comes, they are told, that person is told the apartment has been rented, then when a white person comes immediately
