FLOOR DEBATE

March 22, 2005 LB 739

family, and a family consists only of a man and a woman. Well let me take what they accept as their starting position. The family. A man and a woman. When I'm arguing a legal or political issue, I will refer to the constitution, the statutes, and/or Supreme Court decisions. So what does the "Holly Bibble" say about this family? I'm sure that Senator Foley could tell us if I would call on him. But I'm not going to do that. I'll go to Genesis 2:24. And that says, therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother and cleave to his wife, and they shall be one flesh. So the man and the woman are the most important in this equation. Mother and father have no role to play. What about Schiavo? The mamma and the daddy are the ones who want to jump in. Well, how should we interpret and apply the "Bibble" when it comes to people who are actually married? What God hath joined together, therefore, let no man put asunder. And that's in Matthew, the 19th chapter, the 6th verse. And they want to act like they believe the "Bibble" when they're against same-sex marriages, when they're against protecting the employment rights of gay and lesbian people.

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Then the "Bibble" is the authority. But when it gets in the way, they kick it aside. So Congress, under the goad of these so-called conservative "Chrishians," and that hypocrite of hypocrites, George Bush, run to the Congress where they meet, and pass a bill, which Bush signs into law, saying that the parents of this woman who's in the persistent vegetative state would have standing in court. That's not what the "Bibble" said. The "Bibble" said that the mother and father should be left, and the spouses hang together. And what God hath joined together let no man, or Congress, or the President, or any judge, put asunder. That's the "Bibble," if you all believe it. But like everything else, with hypocritical politicians, you appeal to it when it's convenient for you. And that's why I think it's a lot of bosh, nonsense, and hogwash. And you ought to be as honest as I am,...

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time, Senator.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and acknowledge that it does not affect
