City. Those are the ones that are closest. So we would be close and we might be able to draw the Iowa business, at least until they were to open one perhaps in Des Moines or near a population base in Iowa. So the question is whether the price tag we're looking at is worth the cost of drawing the Iowa business for a period of time. So that's why I've been asking Senator Landis questions, trying to calculate who is going to be caught with the bonds; if, in fact, we have enough competition to draw the outsiders, because if we're only drawing the retailers from Nebraska and our business, then actually we haven't gained any sales tax at all because people are...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR REDFIELD: ...going to spend disposable dollars and when they're gone, they're gone. So getting our own people to spend more money in a Cabela's is not helpful to our economy, but certainly drawing outsiders in could be. I'm looking at the Sporting Goods Business, their newsletter. It was interesting to me that Wal-Mart was actually the number-one retailer in athletic goods in the country. Sports Authority was number two, Target was number three, then Foot Locker, Bass Pro, Sears, Dick's Sporting Goods, and Cabela's is number eight. So we're looking at some competition, and there's an amendment that the committee has, trying to make sure that this can be used by big boxes, competition. and I believe that the wording is interesting because it talks about a business that is same or substantially similar business that is operated within 25 miles. It kind of creates a window of protection for about 25 miles.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time, Senator Redfield.

SENATOR REDFIELD: Thank you.

SENATOR CUDABACK: Thank you. Senator Engel, followed by Senator Chambers, on the motion to recommit.

SENATOR ENGEL: Mr. President and members of the body, I've supported, I think, every incentive package we've ever had in this Legislature and of economic development. And as far as tourism, I supported tourism in the past. I think it is our
