security clearance designation. Now, that's odd to me, but that...I've had legal representation tell me that we may not reference this to holders of security clearances, which was another way of trying to get to the same path. So, as a backup, we identified...

SENATOR CUDABACK: Time, Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: We only had a minute. We've only been talking for a minute. Okay, he said our time is up.

SENATOR CUDABACK: That's a minute, a minute since you asked the question, Senator. Thank you. Senator Jensen, followed by Senator Stuhr.

SENATOR JENSEN: Thank you, Mr. President, members of the Legislature. Senator Cornett, would you reply to a question, please?

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Cornett, would you respond to a question from Senator Jensen? Senator?

SENATOR JENSEN: Senator Cornett.

SENATOR CORNETT: Yes. Sorry.

SENATOR JENSEN: Yes. Could you just kind of lead me through the mechanics of an individual and how they would apply for this status?

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator.

SENATOR CORNETT: Oh, sorry, I thought somebody was saying something. Yes, I can. These jobs are available at this time. They've been trying to recruit for them through job fairs and through recruiting at bases. What the person does or has to have is a security clearance to apply. The problem is with federal regulations we cannot say "security clearance," so what it boils down to is, for them to receive this exemption they have to be retired military, full-time employed in the state of Nebraska in an industry that is registered as a contractor with
