FLOOR DEBATE

January 20, 2006 LB 72

personage known as the devil, I can assure you he is everywhere. He is not in the details. In fact, he leaves the details to small-minded people. He works on a global scale. He deals with presidents, prime ministers, ambassadors, and leaves these details to the little imps and goblins and miscellaneous underlings. As a matter of fact, I think the devil is quite miffed...

PRESIDENT SHEEHY: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...at being blamed for so many things that he doesn't even waste his time on. Some of these things that the devil is blamed for are flowing from the sheer stupidity of human beings. The devil has bigger and more consequential fish to fry. Now, the God that you all worship may be interested in the outcome of a football game, but the devil is not. And that's why the devil, I think, is more successful in his operations than your God is. There are people on this floor who love the devil more than they love the one you all pray to, and serve him better. I just thought I'd throw that in, for whatever it may be worth. Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT SHEEHY: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Senator Schimek. Senator Schimek, yes.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Yes, thank you, Mr. President. I'd like to give my time to Senator Brown, if I could. Thank you.

PRESIDENT SHEEHY: Senator Brown.

SENATOR BROWN: Mr. President, members, in speaking to this bill, the...Senator Stuhr and the committee have both spent a lot of time on it, and in a general sense, I think that there may be some things that we can tweak, but we have arrived at a situation that is going to, we hope, make the situation much better, and so I really hope that we can move forward on the bill. But I wanted to speak to Senator Chambers just for a moment. Senator Chambers just made a quote that the devil is in the details. Maybe that was what most facilitated the rest of the statement that he was going to make. But the original quotation is from Mies van der Rohe, and it is that the angel is
