FLOOR DEBATE

more than one place in order to complete that process, so I don't see anything out of the way or unreasonable about requiring the State Patrol to be the agency that would issue a firearms permit. So some of the material in this bill that talks about the Secretary of State's Office would simply place responsibilities on the State Patrol. But those are things we'll get to later. I'm just kind of serving notice of what it is I'm looking at. I know my time is running, but I must sometimes do more than one thing at a time. What I do wonder, since many people were looking at this bill, why some things were not noted...

PRESIDENT SHEEHY: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...which, slow reader that I am, are being noticed by me. What makes my job doubly difficult is that I can't concentrate on just one bill. I have to know about every bill that comes on the agenda. Nobody else on the floor has to do that. And I would venture to say that everybody on the floor reads more rapidly than I do. I don't say they understand more, but everybody reads more rapidly than I do. But nobody assumes the responsibility that I voluntarily assume. I'm like the conductor. I know everybody's part. Like the quarterback, I know every play and the responsibility of every player. Nobody has to know that. Even the referees don't have to know that much. But quarterbacks get paid. Conductors get paid.

PRESIDENT SHEEHY: Time, Senator Chambers. Senator Schrock.

SENATOR SCHROCK: Mr. President, members of the Legislature, I shouldn't do this, Senator Chambers, but you talked about a subject and you said you were running out of time. I, you know, I agree with you on a certain regent you were talking about, and I was proactive in that, and I think we're taking the right course there. We have a grand jury investigating. I am looking forward to that report. I think we've approached it rather reasonably. But I still maintain that if the Legislature does nothing, then we just as well change our statutes and auction off that position. I think the university could generate a lot of money. Apparently, it's a status to serve on the University Board of Regents. We want good people there. But let's just
