will be 300, because it's not going to make that much difference with the big ones, anyway.

SENATOR SCHROCK: Yeah. Yeah, you're right. You're right.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: So then let's let the size of the operation go out the window. I can see that you beat me down on that. You won. Now you've got to give me something. We'll reduce the number of critters to 400.

SENATOR SCHROCK: Senator Chambers, I don't know what to say.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, you don't have to decide right now.

SENATOR SCHROCK: Okay.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: We'll just continue, because this...when I close, then you all can offer that amendment that you have, and the discussion can continue,...

SENATOR SCHROCK: Okay.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and we won't end it today.

SENATOR SCHROCK: Okay.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I meant by the bill moving. But I'm willing to talk to you,...

SENATOR SCHROCK: All right.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...and I think I made that clear even when I talked about cutting the thread, because we have been able to talk about things in the past. But I want the rest of my colleagues to know that if they're not willing to give ground, ...I'm not even going to talk about them. They don't get anything from me. This is between you and me. Thank you for the time. Was it Senator Schrock's time, or Senator Wehrbein's?

SENATOR CUDABACK: It was Senator Wehrbein's time.
