SENATOR HOWARD: Thinking back I would say there was a 12-year-old.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay. Thank you. Thank you. This applies to a 12-year-old child. She gets a criminal record, thanks to Senator Beutler's compassion for women; she can't get a job; she's saddled with that for the rest of her life. Have you ever heard of a proposition so cold, so heartless, so lacking in compassion? You know why I get angry? And I am angry. I see all these attempts to criminalize and punish women, but when these pedophile priests, with their predatory conduct, do what they do, they and their unruly penises are protected by archbishops, bishops and others. They are not charged criminally. They are not prosecuted. That's because it's a man and he's a Catholic and he's using a penis, and the penis must be protected at all costs, and that's why some women have all these babies, because some man, through his penis, is trying to establish that he has an identity and some worth, and that's the only thing he might be worthy of or have worth in--reproducing. This is a very serious matter. I remember a few years ago when Senator Beutler was concerned about how women were being treated at the university in a way that he thought was unfair. Now here he comes, talking about criminalizing this woman. And I say again, people take drugs for different reasons. There have been instances where a woman would go to a doctor thinking she has a cyst and she has a fetus that is almost full term, and she didn't know she was pregnant. So how are you going to prove that the woman knew she was pregnant if she denies it? You're going to say, well--because these are men, like Senator Beutler and Senator Foley and prosecutors who are antiabortion--well, you ought to know. Well, so should the woman who had a full-term fetus but thought it was a cyst. She ought to have known. So when you can show that those kind of situations existed, any woman can make that plea, and you cannot disprove it. But since you got men, these cruel, hateful men who have problems with women, who feel threatened by strong women and will do what they can to suppress and hold women down, will attribute to them knowledge that they did not have by saying, well, you should have known. What does he know about anything? He may not even know, when he's having sex with a woman and she
