FLOOR DEBATE

March 9, 2006

LB 454

yow" about the origin of this bill, it didn't originate with Senator Combs. As a matter of fact, she just copied the thing, the monstrosity that former Senator Gene Tyson had.

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: That's why my amendments could be plugged right into what she offered, because she offered the same monstrosity he offered. These people don't write these bills, and Senator Combs was upset because somebody at the World-Herald hadn't read her bill. Let her go around this floor and ask who's read her bill. We've discussed bills on this floor that she and no other senator has read, but they vote for them. Voting for a bill you haven't read is worse--it's bad--than writing an editorial about a bill you haven't read. But you don't have to read this piece of trash to know what's in it and express an opinion against it. And that's all it is, is trash. Not just what it says, but the pitifully pathetic means used to draft the language contained in it. I won't try to clean it up, because it's not worth it. I want to clean it out, destroy it root and branch, if I can. Mr. President, it looks like you're trying to find a way to tell me my time is up, so I'm going...

SENATOR BAKER PRESIDING

SENATOR BAKER: Your time...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...to oblige. Thank you.

SENATOR BAKER: Your time is up. There are no further lights. Senator Chambers, you would be recognized to close.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes, thank you, Mr. President. This bill deserves to be deep-sixed. This bill does not embrace sound policy. It's unfortunate that a person is running so hard for governor that he said he'll sign a piece of trash such as this. It's not even well drafted. But what is good is that amendments of the kind that Senator Mines was going to try to offer to improve the bill will not be offered, and those improvements will not be put in the bill. The present governor ought to read the places where Senator Mines' bill...amendment says these guns
