FLOOR DEBATE

March 23, 2006      LB 188

everybody else. We go through the meaningless exercise of every time arguing about how much we'll spend for the Governors' race and we'll allow for the Attorney General and on and on and on. But guess what? It doesn't apply because there isn't enough money because the body doesn't have the will to put the public money in. We just divert these fines and penalties that we think...we're pretending not to notice that we're diverting. This hasn't worked. It's only applied to a couple offices, most notably the Board of Regents. So we can continue this pathetic little exercise and that's what I believe it is and that's not a personal comment against anybody who supports it. I think the exercise is a pathetic theoretical exercise that has not worked and has proven it won't work. And the fourth reason...I have my light on if I...I don't know where I am in time. But I'm only going to give you one more reason why you shouldn't do this. It isn't being justly, fairly, equitably administered. And again, we know it, but we're going to pretend not to notice. We're going to pretend not to notice. You all know that, with regard to...

SENATOR CUDABACK: One minute.

SPEAKER BRASHEAR: ...that which we are so consumed with, I filed a complaint because Christopher John Beutler, my friend, filed a complaint against a candidate for the Board of Regents. Kermit Allen Brashear II filed a complaint against a sitting incumbent Regent. I'm not exactly, I always say I'm slow, but I'm not stupid. I wasn't born yesterday. I'm telling you there's another violation. It's sitting there. You can pretend to not know it. There is a violation. I filed the complaint. Every month, I get a letter that says the complaint is still under consideration. The complaint is still under consideration. The complaint is still under consideration. And you know what? If I knew more about what was going on, I couldn't tell you. You know why? There's a criminal penalty if I knew more. I can't tell you more. I can't believe that Senator Beutler, Senator Schimek, Senator Chambers...

SENATOR CUDABACK: Your time is up on your opening, Senator Brashear, but your light is next. You may continue.
