FLOOR DEBATE

April 3, 2006

LB 1248

can treat two of them. What do you do? Because every thing you talk about is going to lead to the expenditure of money without correcting the condition. You put, in your bill, this prioritization. I'm showing you that it's just a word, and when we are confronted with having to prioritize, nobody is going to make that decision. So why don't we take that out of this bill? Can you effectively address the healthcare and related needs of eligible recipients while at the same time effectively moderating the growth of assistance expenditures? Can you at the same time effectively treat their needs and moderate or reduce the increase in expenditures? You can't do both at the same time, can you?

SENATOR JENSEN: I think you can.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Then you would mean, by effective treatment, not necessarily curing a person but giving that person enough whatever it takes...

SENATOR BAKER: One minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...to not feel pain while the person continues to die, correct?

SENATOR JENSEN: No. I got my...I...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, I won't...my time is running, so I will...

SENATOR JENSEN: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...just make a comment and then I'm going to offer some motions so that I can keep talking here today. People are not serious about this bill. Everybody wants to be patted on the back for having done a great job, but decisions must be made. We can't make them as legislators. We're setting the policy, but we don't want to make any decisions. We make the decision to pass the decision on to somebody else, and they were not elected to make these hard choices as we are, if the only thing we're going to do, as elected officials who established the policy, is to say the policy is that we're not
