FLOOR DEBATE

April 10, 2006 LB 745

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator...

SENATOR JANSSEN: ...not particularly, but I imagine.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Senator, do you ever eat out at a restaurant?

SENATOR JANSSEN: Do I ever eat in a restaurant?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Yes.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Occasionally.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Have you ever noticed that the seats are so low compared to the table that if you set a child in the seat the child could not reach the table and eat off the table? Have you...

SENATOR JANSSEN: Yes, but they do provide booster chairs for those short people.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Now, does Cadillac make booster chairs for jockeys, that you know of?

SENATOR JANSSEN: They probably have an extended lift on the front seat so it goes up a little higher than most of the conventional cars.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: So the most we could look for from a jockey that would benefit the state is a possible tax on a vehicle.

SENATOR JANSSEN: I'm sorry, Senator, but I can't hear the conversation.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, I'll say it just a little louder. The only thing of benefit to the state that a jockey could provide would be the taxes he might pay on a vehicle that he would buy. Is that true?

SENATOR JANSSEN: Oh, and clothing, and anything that is taxed in the state of Nebraska. Food isn't at this...but I believe if
