FLOOR DEBATE

April 10, 2006 LB 745

you eat at a restaurant it is, though.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Would a jockey pay as much for a pair of trousers as somebody who's bigger and taller?

SENATOR JANSSEN: I'm sorry, Senator, I...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Would a jockey pay as much for trousers as somebody who's bigger and taller?

SENATOR JANSSEN: Yes.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Would pay...even though less material is used, even though less material is used in his garments?

SENATOR JANSSEN: Senator, I'm having a terrible time hearing you. Let me...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Oh, okay. Oh, okay.

SENATOR JANSSEN: I'm sorry.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: That's all right. Somebody is going to bring about a change. He turned off that fan, which might have been creating that problem.

SENATOR JANSSEN: Let me get my helping hand out here, Senator, and I think maybe...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Oh, if I'd a known you needed that, I wouldn't have asked you all these questions.

SENATOR JANSSEN: No, that's fine. I enjoy answering them.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: And it seems to me like you're hearing pretty well right now, huh?

SENATOR JANSSEN: Yeah, that fan helped.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: You're like that child that hears what he wants to hear, huh? (Laughter)
