FLOOR DEBATE

April 11, 2006 LB 1039

amendment that would say, Wal-Mart shall not be allowed to open a store in a neighborhood where an existing store exists. You feel that should apply since Wal-Mart might sell lottery tickets.

SENATOR KREMER: No, I don't.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, where is the connection between what you're offering us here and the distribution of lottery funds?

SENATOR KREMER: They both have to do with lottery, but then I understand where you're going. I know that you're thinking it's not germane and that is very likely that's true.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I didn't even have to say all that, did I, because you anticipated...

SENATOR KREMER: I knew that.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, such being the case and you being a very reasonable man as you've demonstrated in the past, you would not want to involve Senator McDonald's bill in a knock-down-drag-out on the fifty-eighth or whatever day of the session this is, would you?

SENATOR KREMER: No, I would not, and I've already expressed that to her.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: So...but you haven't expressed it to everybody on the floor yet, is that true?

SENATOR KREMER: I just did now.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Okay, so you're going to withdraw this amendment?

SENATOR KREMER: No.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, then, how are you going to avoid getting her bill involved in a knock-down-drag-out?
