This bill would change provisions relating to criminal offenses against animals. The bill states that a person convicted of criminal offenses against animals may be subject to section 28-1019. This section states that a court can issue an order prohibiting ownership, possession, or residing with animal for a certain amount of time: If the person is convicted of a Class IV felony, the amount of time is 5-15 years, and if the person is convicted of a Class I misdemeanor, the amount of time is up to 5 years. Any animal involved in a violation of a court order under this section shall be subject to seizure by law enforcement.

It appears that this bill will not have a fiscal impact on the state or political subdivisions.
