This bill changes the provisions for the appointment of members of the governing body of local housing agencies in a city of the metropolitan class. All members are required to obtain certification from the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials or equivalent certification from a nationally recognized professional association. The local housing agency shall pay the certification expense.

The provisions of this bill only apply to a local housing agency in Omaha, as this is the only city of a metropolitan class. The local housing authority will incur costs for the certification process which is estimated to be between $700 and $1,000 per commissioner.
