LB377 provides that an agreement to release another person or entity from liability for personal injury or death, if entered into within 30 days after the date the personal injury or death occurred, shall be voidable by the releasor.

LB377 would increase the State’s or political subdivision’s exposure to risk and therefore, the possibility of increased costs.

The Department of Administrative Services – Risk Division indicates a potential for increased cost, however, the amount is unknown.

Explanation of Estimate:

LB 377 seeks to make an agreement releasing another person or entity from liability for injury or death, if entered into within thirty (30) days after the date of injury or death, to be voidable by the releaser. The agreement may be voided by written notification from the releaser to the other party or parties to the agreement and such notification must occur within 120 days after initial execution of the agreement.

For example, if a contractor agrees to release the State from liability and later voided that release, the liability of the State would then be subjected for review opening the State up for payment of potential damages.

There is the potential for fiscal impact, however the amount of impact is unknown.
