LB 50 changes provisions of the Licensing of Truth and Deception Examiners Act.

Primarily, LB50 is providing a name for the act and replacing references to a range of statutes. There may be some increase in revenue from application fees, but that amount cannot be quantified and is likely to be small.

No fiscal impact.

Explanation of Estimate:

This legislation does not appear to have a fiscal impact. There is a possibility of increased revenues from application fees if a significant number of additional applications were to be received in response to the reduced requirements proposed in this legislation. However, there are currently only seven licensed voice stress examiners and the initial license fee is $50, so any potential revenue growth is not expected to be substantial. Additionally, due to the low number of applicants, it is not anticipated that additional staff time would be needed to process the applications.
