LB 341 introduces the Nebraska Statutory Thresholds for Settlements Involving Minors Act.

The bill establishes procedures for settling claims involving minors, allowing legal custodians to settle claims under $35,000 without court approval if no conservator or guardian ad litem is appointed. Settlement funds must be deposited into a restricted account under the Nebraska Uniform Transfers to Minors Act, an attorney’s trust account, or a DHHS trust account if the minor is a ward of the state. Withdrawals are restricted until the minor turns 19, unless authorized by a court or custodian. The bill also provides liability protections for insurers, financial institutions, and those settling claims in good faith while allowing court involvement if requested. Potential fiscal impacts include reduced court caseloads and increased administrative responsibilities for DHHS in managing settlement funds.

The Supreme Court states a minimal fiscal impact from LB 172, no additional resources are required.
