LB 24 requires the court to waive probation fees if the offender has been previously determined to be indigent or if payment would create an undue hardship due to factors like limited income, employment, or disability. The waiver remains valid only while the individual is unable to pay. Additionally, the bill allows probation terms to be extended during pending revocation proceedings if jointly requested by the probationer and prosecutor.

The Supreme Court states that LB24 may affect Cash Fund revenue from probation fees, with Section 1 potentially reducing revenue due to indigency waivers and Section 2 possibly increasing revenue through probation term extensions, although the overall fiscal impact is expected to be minimal and cannot be determined at this time.
