This bill will change provisions relating to implied consent violations.

The Nebraska Supreme Court (NSC), Nebraska State Patrol (NSP), and Department of Motor Vehicles all estimate no fiscal impact.

The Department of Correctional Services (DCS) states that this bill changes provisions regarding refusing to submit to a blood alcohol test as follows:

- refusal to submit to a test with one prior conviction would be a Class I misdemeanor (0-1 yr imprisonment);
- with two prior convictions would be a Class IIIA felony (0-5 yrs imprisonment),
- with three prior convictions would be a Class III felony (1-20 yrs imprisonment); and
- with four prior convictions would be a Class II felony (1-50 yrs imprisonment).

DCS states the fiscal impact is indeterminate because it is unknown how many individuals would be convicted under the provisions of this bill.
