LB 664 would amend the Nebraska Liquor Control Act by changing provisions regarding the sale of alcoholic liquor on public property.

The bill would strike language referring to the requirement that a local governing body has to consent before a retail liquor license is issued by the Liquor Control Commission for the sale of alcoholic liquor on land or structures owned by the state, cities or villages or on land controlled by airport authorities.

The bill would provide for a license approval process for the sale of alcoholic liquor on land or structures owned by the state, cities or villages, or on land controlled by airport authorities to be the licensing process specified in Section 53-134. Essentially, this section of statute refers to the functions and duties of cities and villages and provides a process for license approval by the local governing board that includes a public hearing on the propriety of issuing such a license.

The Liquor Control Commission estimates there will be no fiscal impact to revenue as a result of LB 664.

There is no basis to disagree with the Liquor Control Commission's estimate of fiscal impact.
