LB597 modifies provisions relating to territory subject to the zoning jurisdiction of certain cities of the first class. In cases where (1) the boundary of such a municipality is within three miles of a city of the metropolitan class (Omaha) and (2) the first class city is located in a county other than the county in which the metropolitan city is located, the bill would apparently allow the first class city to extend its zoning authority to the unincorporated area three miles beyond its boundary rather than two miles beyond its boundary as is the case under current law. Any impacts would be dependent upon action of a related municipality governing body to exercise zoning authority over any additional territory under provisions of the bill.
