Summary Description

The NMTC Act requires a qualified community development entity (CDE) to file an application requesting authority to issue qualified equity investments (QEIs) that qualify for tax credits. The proceeds from the QEIs must be used to make qualified low-income community investments (QLICIs) in a qualified active low-income community business (QALICB).

The Tax Commissioner must limit the amount of QEIs to $15 million of credit utilization in any fiscal year. The $15 million credit limitation is equal to QEIs of $187.5 million ($15 million credit utilization/8% the highest credit rate).

The person or entity that makes an equity investment in the CDE receives tax credits totaling 39% of the investment. The credits may be used beginning with the tax year that includes the third through seventh anniversary dates of the initial investment. The credits are equal to 7% of the total investment for the third anniversary date and 8% for each of the following four anniversary dates.
